In September 1953, Soviet army units in the Soviet Zone of Germany continued training [redacted] The unit exercises observed on troop training grounds and in open terrain apparently did not surpass reinforced regimental level. Individual large final exercises started during the last days of September. Headquarters and signal units were trained in a large-scale command-post exercise under the command of the COFG. There were first indications as to the start of a personnel exchange program as a result of Order No 80 of 5 September by the Minister of Defense of the USSR on the discharge of trained personnel and the induction of recruits of the 1934 class. The cancellation of leave for EM in East Germany and Austria was lifted, obviously with a view to promote fraternization.

Security Measures in EAST BERLIN and other Posts.

2. The fact that the elements of the 6th and 7th Gds Mecz Divs which had been transferred to EAST BERLIN after 17 June left the tent camps in WUHLHEIDE and the Stadtpark (municipal park) PIESDORF and moved to KARLSHORST and WUHLGARTEN, where permanent MVD quarters were available, makes it probable that the units will stay in EAST BERLIN over the winter. As rear units larger than usual were observed remaining in the other military posts during the last summer months, it may be concluded that the Soviet occupation command fears new riots and takes precautionary measures to be able to quell a new uprising more quickly than in June.

Training.

3. a. Divisions and engineer units.

As a result of these security measures, a large percentage of the divisions was only partially assembled at their standard troop training grounds until late September. Training at reinforced regimental level, which started in August, was continued until late September. Some of these several-day regimental exercises were conducted in open terrain in the vicinity of military posts and training grounds. They frequently included river crossing practices, particularly in the area of the Eighth Gds Army and First Gds Mecz Army. Since the division engineer battalions of the other armies also appeared to have joined their divisions earlier this year, there is reason for believing that, contrary to 1952 practice, engineer training was conducted at small level and in close connection with the individual divisions. River crossing practices and the construction of small bridges were observed, especially at the Unstrut, Saale and Mulde Rivers. Information on engineer regiments of the GOFG and armies was received only from the DESSAU area where two regiments of the GOFG were confirmed as previously. The engineer regiments of the Eighth Gds Army, as well as those of the Third Gds Mecz Army, could also still be carried there in September. Bridges were constructed between COSWIG and AKEN across the Elbe River and southeast of DESSAU across the Mulde River.

b. Firing Practices.

Independent artillery brigades and division artillery units continued firing practice with live ammunition at the old troop training grounds until September.* See Annex 1. The 9th Mecz Div, which probably still had inadequate target ranges in the new training area of FORST TAUER, southeast of Lieberose, again practiced firing at Weisswasser in mid-September. Tank firing of units of the Eighth Gds Army in Letzling Heath was no longer observed in September.*

c. AAA Firing Practice.

AAA firing at WUSTROW terminated in mid-September as it had last year.* A large number of return shipments to the posts of the AAA divisions of the IV Arty Corps and armies were reported after that time. The impression that medium AAA units for the first time also practiced at JUETERBOG was confirmed. It was furthermore observed that trains for the first time operated between the troop training grounds in Thuringia and the KOENIGSERUECK troop training grounds. It can be assumed that light AAA units of the Eighth Gds Army engaged in firing at KOENIGSERUECK.

Command-Post Exercise.

4. A command-post exercise, whose start had been indicated in the August report, was conducted in the Mecklenburg area from 28 August until 10 September. It involved headquarters, signal communication and AAA units of all armies and of the IV Arty Corps and is believed to have run as follows: Between 28 August and 4 September, three armies that arrived from the east assembled in the area between STETTIN Haff and BERLIN, facing an enemy party represented by headquarters echelons of the Eighth Gds Army and, possibly, the First Gds Mecz Army, which had advanced from the West as far as the area northwest of BERLIN via the Elbe and Havel Rivers. The armies presumably succeeded in reaching the Mecklenburg lake region ahead of the enemy on 5 September, forcing the enemy back northwest of Berlin. The directing staff was located in the RATHENOW area where signal units of the GOFG and First Gds Mecz Army had already been engaged in the establishment of a command net in mid-August. It could not be determined whether the First Gds Mecz Army as well as the Second Gds Mecz Army participated only as directing force or together with the Eighth Gds Army, as part of the enemy forces.* See Annex 2.

Fall Maneuvers.

5. First, and still incomplete reports tended to indicate that at the end of September and the beginning of October, the first fall maneuvers were conducted in the northwestern sector of LETZLING HEATH, RATHENOW and GENTHIN, and in the NEUSTRELITZ-NEURUPPIN area. Twenty-six troop trains with units of the IX Mtz Rifle Corps and one train with an engineer unit of the GOFG from Aken arrived in the WUDICKE-JERICHOW-GENTHIN area between 24 and 27 September. About 10 shipments of the 10th Gds Tank Div from KRAMPNITZ and the JUETERBOG area, as well as two other shipments, presumably with units of the 63d AAA Div (US), at the same time went to the area of LETZLING HEATH, with the bulk arriving in the northern section. A subsequent exercise must have terminated on 30 September as units of the Third Shock Army, presumably units of the IX Mtz Rifle Corps, were continuously entrained at railroad stations between the LETZLING HEATH and the Elbe River during the first days of October. It can presently be concluded, therefore, that the maneuver also included east-west river crossing. Participating units rather safely included the 19th Gds Mecz Div and the 207th Mtz Rifle Div from LETZLING HEATH, while the reinforced 10th Gds Tank Div is not safely known to have been involved. The 9th Gds Tank Div, reinforced by units of the 2d Light Arty Brig (US) from the summer camp at SPECK and the 90th RL Regt (US) from SCHOENWALDE, conducted a field exercise which started on the evening of 27 September and lasted until 30 September and which extended from NEUSTRELITZ as far as north of NEURUPPIN. The units subsequently returned to their posts by rail. In 1952, the division had conducted a similar exercise in this area from 23 to 26 September.

Exchange of Personnel.

6. Order No 80 by the Minister of Defense of the USSR, dated 5 September 1953, has since 1948 been the first directive on the discharge and induction of FM and NCO classes in the USSR to be published by the press. The 1934 class mentioned as class to be inducted confirms the successive order of terms of service as determined from records available to this office. As the bulk of the 1931 class had already been inducted during the first half of 1951, the 1931 class, besides the 1930 class, would have to be discharged by 1 January 1954 if, according to the hitherto unchanged compulsory service law of 1 September 1939, the year classes of the army were actually to be discharged on the following 1st January after the end of a second year of service. The induction of the 1934 class and of deferments of the 1933 and 1932 classes will not make up for the 1930 and 1931 classes. Should, contrary to compulsory service law and press dispatch, the soldiers of the 1931 class or at least part of this class not be retained as had been the practice so far, the strength of the Soviet Army would possibly decrease 10 to 15 percent after the turnover of personnel. Increased employment of women in headquarters and supply offices as well as employment of civilians which has already started, would also, not compensate for this decrease of strength. Considering, however, that there has been a steady increase in the strength of the Soviet Army since 1950, there is the possibility that the Soviet High Command will keep up the previous strength by the retention of trained personnel.

Miscellaneous.

7. For the first time since August 1953, Soviet EM in addition to their officers have been granted town leaves and, according to corresponding observations, have evidently been ordered to establish friendly contact with the German population. This fraternization effort has failed, however, as the Soviet soldiers were avoided by the population and, in drunkenness, committed heavy excesses at many posts. These happenings showed that the good discipline observed in the Soviet Army could be maintained only under the pressure of superiors and is spoiled immediately under different conditions.

Transportation.

8. In spite of a shortage of rolling stock on some days during the reported period, the over-all operational situation was normal. The number of railroad cars claimed by the Soviet Occupation Forces was below the normal level apart from individual cases connected with military exercises. The establishment of a reserve pool of freight cars and locomotives required for the peak traffic during the fall was completed in all railroad districts.
9. On 29 August, coal stocks available represented 6.5 days' requirements. These reserves must be considered as being too low. No definite information has been received that locomotives have started using hard coal.
10. Freight traffic across border stations on the Oder-Neisse line and on the East German-Czechoslovakian border continued to be normal in September. In detail the following features of this traffic appear noteworthy:
 - a. The arrival of rocket launchers and armored personnel carriers or armored scout cars.
 - b. Coal imports from Poland increased slightly. For the first time additional coal trains were directed via KUESTLIN.
 - c. Food deliveries by the USSR to East Germany increased from 1,256 refrigerator carloads to 1,640 carloads in August. It appears that the volume of food shipments decreased in September. There was no change in the volume of crude oil imports from Austria and iron ore imports from the USSR. In July, a total of 33,600 tons of bauxite were observed to be imported from Hungary.

11. Miscellaneous railroad information:

- a. The second track on the Guben-Cottbus-Falkenberg railroad line was completed.
- b. Earth works on the HENNIGSDORF-BRIESELANG section of the Nord-westring BERLIN were completed.
- c. Work on the reconstruction of the railroad bridge over the Oder River near KUESTRIN was completed. However, the second track has not yet been laid on this bridge.

Supply.

12. In August 1953, the volume of supply traffic from the USSR to East Germany was relatively low and amounted to a total of 846 carloads. The delivery of rocket launchers and armored personnel carriers and/or armored scout cars continued. This program has been under way since May 1953. Prior to late August, a total of 270 rocket launchers and about 450 armored personnel carriers and/or armored scout cars were delivered. It appears that this supply program continued in September. During this month, armored personnel carriers were delivered for the first time to the KVP. The delivery of new motor vehicles including prime movers for the artillery has slightly increased since August. The volume of shipments of tank spare parts from the USSR, however, has considerably dropped since August. Interzonal supply traffic showed no changes with regard to traffic relations. The volume of shipments, however, had decreased since July.

Kasernierte Volkspolizei.13. Order of Battle.

Statements by deserters and observation of transport movements indicated that KVP units transferred at the end of August and the beginning of September 1953 included Engineer Battalion [] which moved from KUECHENSEE to KLIETZ; Engineer Battalion [] which moved from TREUENRIETZEN to KUECHENSEE; [] which moved from KLIETZ, FREMNITZ and RATHENOW to GOTHA; Armory School [] from GERA to installation SONNENSTEIN in PIRNA; and Bereitschaft [] which moved from BAERENSTEIN-NIEDERSCHLAG to MARIENBERG. All other units, schools, central supply installations and other KVP offices were confirmed in their previous posts.

14. Organizational Changes.

- a. The renaming into Bereitschaften of full divisions and cadre units in June 1953 was followed by another renaming at the end of August and the beginning of September which indicated organizational changes within the KVP units. It was determined that Bereitschaft LOEBAU was renamed 3d Mecz Kommando of TV []. Bereitschaft ROSTOCK was renamed 2d Kommando of Bereitschaft SCHWERIN, Gruppe Nord, Bereitschaft ORANIENBURG was renamed 1st Mecz Kommando of Bereitschaft "BERLIN", Bereitschaft POTSDAM was renamed Bereitschaft 2d Mecz Kommando of Bereitschaft "Berlin", and Bereitschaft HOHENSTUECKEN was renamed

SECRET/CONTROL - U.S. OFFICIALS ONLY

25X1

3d Mecz Kommando of Bereitschaft "Berlin". This reorganization means a change of designation to the next lower grade, i.e. from Bereitschaft (division) to Kommando (regiment), allowing the conclusion that the TVs which had been equivalent to so-called Armeegruppen, were now only divisions (Bereitschaften). It must, however, be taken into account that, as a result of detachments from Armeegruppe Nord during recent weeks and, partially, of an enrolment of volunteers, it was possible for the units to fill gaps which had been caused by the discharge and that, therefore, the strengths of the renamed units were not substantially diminished. The units in CRANIENBURG, POTSDAM and HOHENSTUECKEN are even believed to be stronger as Kommandos than they had been as Bereitschaften. The renaming of Bereitschaft LOEBAU tends to indicate that TV [] now has three mechanized Kommandos, since it is to be assumed that the Bereitschaften in FRANKENBERG and MARIENBERG (previously BAERENSTEIN-WIEDERSCHLAG) had also become mechanized Kommandos. The 3d Mecz Kommando in LOEBAU was, moreover, scheduled to receive a tank Abteilung from detachments of the tank regiment in SPREMBERG and an AAA unit from detachments of the AAA instruction regiment in ZITTAU. The new designation of the KVP unit in ROSTOCK allows the conclusion that elements of TV [] were subordinate to Armeegruppe Nord since, following the transfer of Bereitschaft KLIETZ which was reorganized and renamed into the Sonderkommando des Ministeriums des Innern (special command of the Ministry of the Interior) and moved to GOTHA in late August, had suffered a substantial decrease. There is the question as to whether TV [] may be scheduled to be reorganized completely or even dissolved. No information on renaming or reorganization was received from the area of TV [] from LEIPZIG.

- b. KVP Bereitschaft BERLIN which, as had already been mentioned, chiefly consists of the units in CRANIENBURG, POTSDAM and HOHENSTUECKEN, was newly established. This Bereitschaft was subordinate directly to the Ministry of the Interior as a Verfuegungstruppe and received preferential treatment regarding personnel and material. Deserter stated that its headquarters was located in the former VPL quarters in BERLIN-Johannisthal.
- c. The volume of detachments made by Armeegruppe Nord (TV []) cannot yet fully be determined. Personnel were chiefly detached from the infantry regiments of the divisions (Bereitschaften) in PRENZLAU and PRORA. Infantrymen were, in individual instances, also transferred to artillery units to receive retraining. So far as could be observed, the tank regiments and mechanized regiments on the other hand furnished no substantial detachments. Artillery units invariably detached whole units, i.e. batteries with personnel, weapons and equipment. This was done at an about equal rate by all artillery units of Armeegruppe Nord. It can be estimated that, in this manner, the artillery regiments, AAA regiments and AT artillery regiments of Armeegruppe Nord and subordinate divisions detached to the KVPs about one third of their previous number of batteries. Receiving units were the artillery regiments and AAA training regiments of TV [] or KVP units with artillery elements. An estimated 20 to 30 percent of the personnel strength have so far been detached by Armeegruppe Nord.

15. Recruiting

The recruiting campaign which was resumed in August after break of two and a half months was apparently only of limited success and clearly indicated the attitude of resistance by the population against the regime. The effects of the June rebellion, both political and psychological, probably made inductees still more intransigent toward military service with the KVP than previously. If an estimated 15,000 to 20,000 men were discharged in July and August 1953, there would scarcely be the possibility to soon fill these gaps with volunteers. Should the Soviets plan to increase the KVP to the extent reached in 1952, there would be the necessity to employ either brutal force for the recruiting campaign or introduce UFT.

16. Materiel Delivered from the USSR. The KVP received motor vehicles and armored vehicles, probably armored scout cars, directly from the USSR since mid-September 1953, with the shipments going via BREST LITOVSK - FRANKFURT/ODER to ORANIENBURG and, presumably, also NEUBRANDENBURG. In ORANIENBURG, a Soviet acceptance detail would hand over the deliveries to a KVP acceptance office which distributed the materiel to the various KVP units. Major deliveries of weapons and equipment to KVP from the USSR were last observed in the fall of 1953. At that time, the materiel was handed over to the KVP in PENZLAU and PASEWALK. It remains to be seen whether the materiel delivered since mid-September 1953 had only a limited volume designed for a special purpose or whether it marked the beginning of a new phase of supply of materiel to the KVP.

17. Training.

KVP units practiced at about battalion and regimental level in the area southeast of WEISSWASSER during the period from 1 to 10 September 1953. Similar exercises were conducted in the area of TORGELOW. Maneuvers that had been planned in the area of Armeegruppe Nord were all canceled. There were indications that a command-post exercise was conducted instead in the area west of PASEWALK.

18. KVP Section at the Ministry of the Interior.

[redacted] KVP Lieutenant General Karl Heinz Hoffmann, veteran of the Spanish Civil War and Soviet citizen, was made first deputy to the Minister of the Interior Willi Stoph on 1 September 1953, while Vincenz Mueller was shelved. Hoffmann who had been chief of KVP army thus became the actual head of KVP army, navy and air force. He as well as Stoph is considered a partisan of Ulbricht's and, thus, the representative of a staunch policy of Sovietization. In the military field this may mean that the building up of the KVP and conversion into so-called National Forces will be continued.

19. Situation in Berlin. Since 15 September, BERLIN was surrounded by a reinforced ring of KVP units. While, in July and August and up to mid-September, three infantry regiments furnished by the division in PENZLAU in July and by the division in Prora in August and September at a time had been employed in EAST BERLIN, the number of troops transferred to BERLIN now approximately doubled. The units of division EGGESIN consisting of three mechanized regiments and 1 tank regiment and, possibly several other units which moved to BERLIN between 11 and 14 September, were determined in BERLIN from transportation records [redacted] as well as by special observations. The medium tank regiment commanded by Major Eckardt (fnu) was stationed in BERLIN-JOHANNISTHAL. The transfer of tank and artillery units of the division in Prora which was also made in the same period, has so far been determined only from transportation records, while the units could not as yet clearly be identified in BERLIN. The troops are presently employed in BERLIN as infantry forces. No tanks and guns have been observed. To these forces must be added the newly established mechanized Bereitschaft BERLIN which is located in GRANIENBURG, POTSDAM, HOHENSTUECKEN and BERLIN-JOHANNISTHAL and is subordinate directly to the Ministry of the Interior as a Verfuegungstruppe. If the other KVP units permanently stationed in the area of Berlin as well as the three border police Bereitschaften and the police units employed in the ring around BERLIN and the East Berlin police forces are also taken into account, there is no doubt that WEST BERLIN can at any moment effectively be sealed and insulated and the resistance of the population in EAST BERLIN be quelled. The KVP now has its center of gravity in the area of BERLIN rather than in that of Armeegruppe Nord.

Training.

21. While elements of the 13th Gds Mecz Div were still outside their post and had to be assumed stationed in the summer camp at the DOELLERSHEIM troop training grounds during the second half of August, the artillery battalion of the 44th Gds Mecz Regt of the 13th Gds Mecz Div had already returned to the Trost Kaserne installation at its post in VIENNA from the DOELLERSHEID troop training grounds on 16 August 1953. Elements of the 95th Gds Mtz Rifle Div were still at the DOELLERSHEID troop training grounds during the first half of September. Elements of the 23d AAA Div were also not yet back at their posts during the second half of August. They were probably at the APETLON AAA firing range which, as confirmed by the retransfer via the HEGYESHALON border station to Hungary of an AAA unit from WALLERN on 21 August 1953, had simultaneously been used by Soviet units from Hungary. Four military trains observed going to Hungary from the area of BADEN on 26 August may indicate that Soviet units stationed in Austria participated in exercises in Hungary.

[redacted] Unit
[redacted] was stationed in NICKEL, MURMANSK Oblast in World War II. This [redacted] belonged to the 253d Rifle Regt of the 45th Rifle Div in World War II. This division was assigned to the Fourteenth Army at the end of the war. Since this army exercises command in the southern section of the White Sea MD, it is quite credible that the division is stationed in this MD.

The map is completely based on the evaluation of information supplied [redacted] The underlined locations represent unloading stations used on 15 August and 28 August and/or loading stations used on 8 and 10 September by headquarters, signal and AAA units of the individual armies which, [redacted] went there from their posts by rail and/or returned to their area after the end of the exercise on and after 8 September. The areas entered represent assembly areas of these units in which they bivouacked at the beginning of the exercise and were confirmed as to their assignments on the basis of transportation records by motor vehicle [redacted] observation. The assembly area of the Eighth Gds Army could not as yet be determined. The loading in Weimar prior to the beginning of the exercise and trains leaving Burg were the only ones reported so far. The thick arrows represent movements during which individual armies were observed, in some instances, with the same motor vehicle [redacted] as in the assembly area and at the loading stations.
